RCCG OPEN HEAVEN 23 JANUARY 2025 TODAY MESSAGE

If Christ is in you, your hope is glory (Colossians 11:27). No matter who you are, as long as you have Christ in you, you can hope for God's glory. Today's Bible reading says that while it will be well with the righteous, it shall be ill with the wicked. No matter your past, as long as you have accepted Jesus Christ as your Lord and Saviour and you're living according to His will, you have been made righteous, and it will be well with you. Those who aren't born again cannot be righteous; God sees them as wicked (John 3:18-21), and He has said that it shall not be well with them (Isaiah 3:11).

I always tell my children at the beginning of each year, "It's going to be well with me this year." I know this because the One who said that it shall be well with the righteous never discriminates. What He says to one, He says to all (Mark 13:37).

God is not a man that He should lie; when He says something, He will do it (Numbers 23:19). When He makes a promise, and you meet the conditions of that promise, you will receive it at the appointed time. The promise of a glorious tomorrow for you, according to Colossians 1:27, is conditional, and the condition is that Christ must be in you. Those who refuse to be connected to Jesus cannot see His promises fulfilled.

A man once asked me to tell him about his future, and I replied, "That is easy. Are you born again?" He answered, "No." I then told him that his future would be terrible. He said, "How do you know? You don't even know me, neither do you know my name. You've not even prayed." I then said, "That is unnecessary. Isaiah 3:11 says, 'Woe to the wicked, for it shall be ill with him.' Then, he said, 'What if I said I am born again?' I replied, 'I would have told you that your tomorrow will be alright.' He then said, 'What if I am willing to be a child of God now?' I replied, 'Your tomorrow will be alright.'

God is not a respecter of persons (Romans 2:11); no matter your background, His word is true for everybody.

KEY POINT

Irrespective of your background, you can be assured of a glorious future if you surrender your life completely to Christ.
