OPEN HEAVEN 22 MARCH 2025 DEVOTIONAL

TOPIC: CONSTANT vs VARIABLES I

MEMORISE

For I am the LORD, I change not; therefore ye sons of Jacob are not consumed.
Malachi 3:6

READ: Lamentations 3:22-26

²² It is of the Lord's mercies that we are not consumed, because his compassions fail not.

²³ They are new every morning: great is thy faithfulness.

²⁴ The Lord is my portion, saith my soul; therefore will I hope in him.

²⁵ The Lord is good unto them that wait for him, to the soul that seeketh him.

²⁶ It is good that a man should both hope and quietly wait for the salvation of the Lord.

RCCG OPEN HEAVEN 22 MARCH 2025 MESSAGE

We live in a world of constants and variables.

For example, the heights and weights of humans are variables as they differ between individuals. Wealth is also a variable because some people are rich while some are poor.

Even among the rich, wealth remains a variable because a fellow can have riches today, and it could all be gone tomorrow (Proverbs 23:5).

In contrast, constants represent things that never change. For instance, men do not get pregnant and give birth.

In life also, we have variable constants; these are things that are supposed to be constant but can be subject to changes. For example, adults are supposed to have 32 teeth, but if you check, you may find that some adults have less than 32 teeth. Ecclesiastes 12:3 says that the grinders become few with age, which is the Bible's wonderful way of saying that you may lose some of your teeth as you grow older.

Furthermore, we have absolute constants. For example, a day following a night is a constant. It has been happening since the world began, and it will continue to happen until God says otherwise. Psalm 30:5 says that weeping may endure for a night, but joy comes in the morning. It is certain that a day will follow a night; therefore, before sunrise tomorrow, all your sorrows will be gone, in Jesus' name.

Our God is an absolute constant. In today's memory verse, He said, "...I am the Lord, I change not..." He is the same yesterday, today, and forever (Hebrews 13:8). Who He was is who He is – He never changes. That is why He introduced Himself to Moses as I AM, not I WAS, nor 'I WILL BE'. If He gave someone a miracle yesterday, you can rest assured that He can give you the same today. The God who healed the sick and made the lame walk is still the same. Do you have a case that looks impossible? Our God is Almighty, and there is nothing impossible with Him (Luke 1:37). Pray and search through the Scriptures for God's word to you concerning the situation, for the things that were written in the Bible were written for your learning, that you might have hope through patience and the comfort of the Scriptures (Romans 15:4).

Beloved, God never changes; His word is constant (Isaiah 40:8). Let your heart be filled with hope because His word never fails. Hold on to His word, and very soon, your hope will be turned into testimonies.

KEY POINT

Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today, and forever more. He is our sure constant amidst

OPEN HEAVEN 22 MARCH 2025 COMMENTARY

Today's devotional is a profound reflection on the unchanging nature of God and the hope we can have in His promises. It contrasts the variables and constants in life with the absolute constancy of God, reminding us that He is our ultimate source of stability and hope. Let's explore it:

1. MEMORISE: Malachi 3:6

Malachi 3:6 says, "For I am the Lord, I do not change; therefore you are not consumed, O sons of Jacob." This verse underscores the immutability of God – His unchanging nature. It is a foundational truth that provides comfort and assurance to believers. Because God does not change, His promises, character, and faithfulness remain constant. This means we can trust Him completely, no matter how unpredictable or unstable life may seem.

2. BIBLE READING: Lamentations 3:22-26

This passage is a beautiful declaration of God's steadfast love and faithfulness. It reminds us that "His mercies are new every morning" (Lamentations 3:23) and that He is good to those who wait for Him and seek Him. These verses emphasize that even in times of suffering or uncertainty, God's love and faithfulness are constants we can rely on. They encourage us to trust in His timing and to wait patiently for His intervention.

3. Variables and Constants in Life

The Open Heaven devotional begins by drawing a distinction between variables and constants in life. Variables, such as wealth, health, and circumstances, are subject to change. Even things that seem constant, like the number of teeth in an adult's mouth, can change over time. This highlights the transient nature of life and the unpredictability of worldly things.

However, the devotional for today contrasts these variables with absolute constants, such as the cycle of day and night. These constants remind us that some things are unchanging and reliable. The devotional uses Psalm 30:5 to illustrate this: "Weeping may endure for a night, but joy comes in the morning." This verse assures us that just as night is always followed by day, our sorrows will eventually give way to joy because of God's faithfulness.

4. God as the Absolute Constant

The central theme of the devotional is that God is an absolute constant. He is unchanging in His nature, character, and promises. This truth is rooted in Malachi 3:6 and Hebrews 13:8, which declares that "Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today, and forever." The devotional emphasizes that:

- God's Nature Never Changes: He is the same God who performed miracles in the past, and He is still capable of doing the impossible today.

- God's Promises Are Reliable: Because He does not change, His Word remains constant and trustworthy (Isaiah 40:8).
- God's Faithfulness is Unwavering: We can depend on Him in every season of life, knowing that He will never fail us.

This truth is a source of great hope and encouragement, especially when we face challenges or uncertainties. It reminds us that no matter how chaotic or unpredictable life may seem, God remains our unchanging foundation.

5. Application: Holding On to God's Word

The devotional encourages us to hold on to God's Word, especially in difficult times. It reminds us that the Scriptures were written for our learning and encouragement (Romans 15:4). When we face situations that seem impossible, we are to:

- Pray: Bring our concerns to God, knowing that He hears us.
- Search the Scriptures: Look for God's promises and apply them to our situation.
- Wait Patiently: Trust in God's timing, knowing that His Word never fails.

The devotional also reassures us that our hope in God's promises will eventually turn into testimonies. This is a powerful reminder that God's faithfulness is not just a theological concept but a reality we can experience in our lives.

6. Key Message: God's Unchanging Nature is Our Hope

The key message of the devotional is that God's unchanging nature is our source of hope and stability in an ever-changing world. It challenges us to:

- Anchor Our Lives in God: Instead of relying on the variables of life, we are to build our lives on the unchanging foundation of God's Word and character.
- Trust in His Promises: No matter how impossible our circumstances may seem, we can trust that God is able to do what He has promised.
- Live with Confidence: Knowing that God is constant, we can face life's challenges with confidence and hope.

Today's devotional serves as both a reminder and a call to action:

- Reminder: God's unchanging nature is a truth we can cling to in every season of life. It reassures us that He is always faithful, even when life feels uncertain.
 - Call to Action: We are to actively hold on to God's Word, pray, and wait patiently for His promises to be fulfilled. We are also called to share this hope with others, especially those who may be struggling with doubt or fear.

Conclusion

The Open Heaven devotional for today is a powerful reminder of the constancy of God in a world of variables. It encourages us to place our trust in His unchanging nature and to hold on to His promises, knowing that they will never fail. Whether we are facing challenges, waiting for breakthroughs, or simply navigating the uncertainties of life, we can rest in the assurance that God is the same yesterday, today, and forever. Let us anchor our lives in His Word and live with the confidence that comes from knowing our hope in Him will never be disappointed.
